

yourSRI.com - Webinar

Introduction to the world of yourSRI

Due to the increasing willingness to incorporate additional aspects into investment decisions, sustainable or socially responsible investments (SRIs) have strongly gained in importance especially over the past few years. In line with this, the increased awareness and interest in responsible investments is fuelling a need for a greater breadth and depth of information and more straightforward and transparent access to key facts and figures. That's why yourSRI.com has been set up - It's all about a clear, high-quality overview that allows for a professional access to the required data pursuing transparency, comparability and measurability.

And in order to show the advantages and offerings of one of the leading databases in responsible investing worldwide, yourSRI is hosting a series of webinars.

- The aim of those short webinars is to give you an overview about responsible investments, what yourSRI.com offers and how the database can be used in your business line.
- Learn about the evolution of responsible investments, today's market volume and customers demands, experience the database of yourSRI consisting of more than 1100 companies and over 1300 investment products, learn about product informations and the yourSRI investment fact sheet, access Sustainable Fundreports and incorporate the rating in your analysis, and complement your own research with more than 850 research documents as well as reports.
- With the support of our partners in the financial service industry respectively the sustainable investing market, early next year two exciting new services will be available for our users. In January 2014 a sophisticated Investment Carbon Screening Tool that has been developed in cooperation with South Pole Ltd. will be launched. This means that carbon footprints on fund level as well as on an individual portfolio basis will be available to investors on yourSRI. This truly unique tool will therefore enable investors to rank their investments respectively the funds according to carbon output too. In addition to this, by February 2014 the implementation of ESG Company Ratings will be finalized so that clients are presented with a truly global coverage with an industry leading Worldwide and Emerging Market Index as an underlying (including more than 3'000 companies).
